

Making Your College Search Count

Speaker Introduction

Good morning/afternoon. We are pleased today to be hosting "Making Your College Search Count."

Today's presentation will share unique insights from colleges, counselors and college students across the nation on how to make the most of YOUR college search. Our speaker today will offer an inside look at:

- Finding colleges that are right for you
- Gaining admission to them, and
- Making the most of the financial aid process

The event is brought to us at no cost because of contributions from some organizations like:

- My College Options
- Army ROTC
- Bank of America
- The National Guard, and
- American Petroleum Institute, which represents America's Oil and Natural Gas Industries

Our speaker today is John Girton. He is a motivational speaker, author, and Journalism and Telecommunications instructor at Ball State University in Muncie, Indiana. He also owns his own a communications-consulting and training firm in Indianapolis, Indiana. John travels extensively speaking and training non-profit and non-governmental business leaders on marketing, communication strategies and image building. He enjoys sharing messages of hope and inspiration to audiences of all ages.

So, Put your hands together for

John Girton, Jr.
